Facilities: The Kenai River Lodge, located at the Bridge in Soldotna, has rooms available for a 10% discount for AIP delegates. It has a lounge, superb views and is walking distance to the convention center. Restaurants of all types abound nearby, but the convention will have a continental breakfast, hot catered lunch and afternoon finger foods available.

King Bed: $109 per night.

Queen: $120 per night.

If going on your own, the Kenai/Soldotna area abounds in great restaurants, B & Bs, hotels, rental cars, churches, taxi service and airports with regular flights from Anchorage.

There will be limited billeting in private homes by AIP members and sympathizers.

The “Central Peninsula” encompasses the communities of Soldotna, Kenai, Sterling, Nikiski, Kasilof, Funny River and all points in between. There is constant daily traffic within this sphere with many hideaway subdivisions, mini-malls and schools, totaling a population of well over 40,000. Masks, covid mandates and other attacks on our freedom have been generally ignored since May of 2020.

The AIP held a convention in Kenai in 2010 which was well attended. Since then, conventions have been few, with the Wasilla convention of October 2020 re-igniting the party from its drift. This new vigor in the AIP came after the death of “Iron Lady” Chairman Lynette Clark in April 2020, aka “Yukon Yonda”.

We are still in recovery but growing in strength. We were over 20,000 in membership until the election rolls were purged, but remain at nearly 19,000. This is fully 25% of the enrollment of the Alaska Democratic Party.

Why join the AIP?: Our website at www.akip.org is loaded with the party’s history, platform, goals, purpose, by-laws. Many citizens, fed up with the empty and unfulfilled promises of the Republicans, join after simply viewing it.

But many have balked at joining, with the usual (and well-justified) reply, “If I join the AIP, I won’t be able to vote in the Republican Party! But my heart is with you.”

Friends, with Ranked Choice Voting, this is no longer an issue.

The AIP was the only party to sign on to the Ken Jacobus lawsuit that claimed that RCV was unconstitutional, and we still oppose it. “But when life gives you lemons ... make lemonade!”

If your heart is with the AIP --- “Home is where the heart is.” Why wait?

The AIP concentrates on Alaskan issues, which is why our motto is Alaska First, Alaska Always. Of course, we are always concerned about national and international issues as they apply to us. However, we have decided not to endorse presidential candidates or out of state candidates. These issues are always debated at the convention, and might change.

The AIP, which has always been against abortion funding and even in favor of overturning Roe v. Wade, is now a fully prolife party, something the Libertarian Party, often an AIP ally, is not. See our resolutions from the 2020 convention.

Please register with the AIP online and, in order to be properly credentialed, bring your proof with you, either on your iPhone or with a print out. This will save us much paperwork and time at the door.
